Positive Impressions Provides Tamper-Resistant Veterinary Prescription Pads for Secure Medication Dispensing

May 19, 2026

BLACK RIVER FALLS, WI - May 19, 2026 -
Positive Impressions LLC continues to support veterinary practices with its customizable tamper-resistant prescription pads, providing a secure solution for medication documentation and dispensing.

The RX1 and RX2 Prescription Pads feature a blue pantograph background and multiple hidden security elements. When photocopied, the word "VOID" appears across the document to help prevent fraud. The pads include nine security features that meet 2008 Medicaid requirements, such as color match, artificial watermark, erasure protection, microprint, and thermochromic ink.

Practices can customize the pads with clinic name, address, phone number, and veterinarian-specific information. Options include one-part or two-part carbonless formats, with sequential numbering available for an additional fee. Each pack contains 500 prescriptions, priced at $76.00 per pack with discounts for orders of two or more.

These pads address the need for accurate, professional documentation in veterinary settings where prescriptions cover antibiotics, pain management, and ongoing treatments. The design supports clear communication between the practice, client, and pharmacy.

A veterinarian using the pads shared, ?These script pads work out great for our veterinary clinic. Easy and convenient to order, custom-made for each one of our doctors, and with the additional safety features against fraud.?

Tim Torkelson, co-owner of Positive Impressions LLC, stated, ?Our tamper-resistant prescription pads combine professional appearance with essential security features to give veterinary teams confidence in their prescribing process.?

He added, ?We work with practices to incorporate their specific details while maintaining the integrity of the security elements.?

Positive Impressions maintains a catalog of more than 3,000 items tailored for veterinary clinics and hospitals. The prescription pads integrate well with other pharmacy supplies, such as pre-printed labels and prescription bags.

Practices appreciate the straightforward ordering process. Clinics submit customization details, review a digital proof, and approve before production begins. One-part pads typically ship within five business days of approval, while two-part and sequentially numbered versions ship within about twelve days.

Positive Impressions notes that each practice is responsible for knowing its state requirements. The company will do its best to edit the design to meet the requirements provided by the practice. If a state requires features not included in the standard options, practices can contact the company for a quote on a special order.

This approach ensures practices receive pads that align with both security standards and local regulations. Specific states, including California, Florida, Georgia, and others, have additional requirements, and practices in New York or Delaware must follow state-specific procurement rules.

The pads use quality paper stock suitable for clinical environments. The format includes space for patient information, medication details, instructions, refills, and signatures. This structure supports efficient workflows during patient discharge while providing clients with clear written guidance.

Positive Impressions has supplied the veterinary industry since 2008. Its focus remains on practical, high-quality tools that help clinics operate efficiently and professionally. The prescription pads represent one part of a broader selection that includes operational supplies and client resources.

Practices can review full product specifications, including dimensions and security feature lists, when evaluating options. The customizable nature allows clinics of all sizes to create pads that fit their unique needs and branding.

By offering these secure documentation tools, Positive Impressions helps veterinary practices maintain compliance, reduce risks, and deliver consistent care. The company provides support throughout the ordering process to address questions on customization or compatibility.

Positive Impressions LLC remains committed to delivering veterinarian-specific supplies that address real-world needs in modern practice management. Clinics interested in the prescription pads can explore the available designs and customization options to find the best solution for their team.
