Executive Base Network Expands Live Telephone Answering Service for San Ramon Firms

September 14, 2026

San Ramon, California - September 14, 2026 -
Executive Base Network, a women-owned executive suite and virtual office provider operating in San Ramon since 1984, is highlighting its live telephone answering service as more solo practitioners and small firms seek reliable ways to capture new business calls. The service places a real receptionist on the line to answer calls in each client company's own name during business hours, giving callers a person to speak with rather than an automated menu or voicemail.

The telephone answering service is available as part of the company's virtual office packages, which start at 45 dollars per month on month-to-month terms. Alongside live call answering, those packages include a professional business address, mail handling, and access to conference rooms and workspace as needed. The month-to-month structure allows independent professionals and growing firms to adjust their arrangements without long-term commitments.

The offering responds to a persistent challenge for smaller operations, where missed calls often translate into missed business. When a prospective client reaches voicemail, the opportunity frequently moves elsewhere. Executive Base Network live telephone answering addresses that gap by ensuring incoming calls are handled promptly by trained staff who represent the client's business by name.

The reception team that fields client calls is the same team that supports the company's on-site executive suites in San Ramon. Answering is managed by trained office staff who work at the local business center rather than through an offshore call center. This arrangement keeps call handling consistent and grounded in the Tri-Valley community the company has served for nearly four decades.

The virtual office model, including live reception, has drawn steady interest from solopreneurs, remote workers, and small businesses across the Bay Area as remote and hybrid work continue to reshape how professionals maintain a business presence. Executive Base Network serves this demand from its base in San Ramon, offering a range of workspace solutions that include full-time office packages, meeting room rentals, and private offices on demand.

The company traces its roots to the mid-1980s and remains locally owned and operated. Its meeting facilities feature professional-grade technology and high-speed internet, and its staff maintains direct working relationships with the businesses they support.

Tara Teodoro, President and CEO of Executive Base Network, began her career at the company as a receptionist and has seen firsthand how a live answer shapes outcomes for small firms.

"A person answering the phone in a company's own name changes how a caller experiences that business," Teodoro said. "When someone is ready to hire an attorney, a consultant, or a contractor and they reach a live voice instead of a recording, that call often becomes a client. That is why so many small firms rely on a real receptionist. It is a lesson I learned answering those calls myself, and it still holds true today."
